Greatest Improvement of the Age.

The Good Samaritan!

VENTILATED OVEN

COOKING STOVE!

We are sole AGENTS for BANGOR and vicinity for the celebrated Cooking Stove

GOOD SAMARITAN

THIS STOVE was patented by Messrs. Rathbone & Co of Albany July 19 1859 and although but little more than a year has expired since it was first operated its many wonderful feats in cooking have already placed it far in advance of any other Stove which has as yet been offered to a discriminating public. We claim for the Good Samaritan that its economy of fuel, its simplicity of arrangement and real practical utility of the conveniences which surround it, have placed it far in advance of any stove yet offered to the world. We will name a few of the advantages which it possesses over any other stove as well as some of the conveniences which attend it.

1 It has greater weight of castings than the bare stove weighing from 400 to 450 pounds

2 Greater capacity for baking. It has a very large Oven, and also conveniences for baking on the top of the stove. It has also a large front roaster for baking bread, pies, &c or roasting meat, and this without danger of contaminating with the same taste, the finest delicacies being baked in the oven of the stove, an advantage which no other stove using the roaster possesses

3 Its perfect control of heat. The Good Samaritan has a treble draught arrangement which enables the operator to use as little or great a fire as he chooses. The advantage which this arrangement gives over any other economist of fuel is that while a fire may be started in the cold stove in from one third to one-half less time, the operator can after the fire is once started lessen the draught as much as he pleases even to closing it entirely—thus giving him perfect control of the heat

4 It has a soapstone fire back which will never burn out and consequently will not need replacing. Soapstone is used very extensively as a lining to coal stoves, as it is well established that nothing else will stand the effect of intense heat for so great a length of time

Its accommodations for broiling are perfect and unequalled. It has a splendid arrangement for broiling on the hearth, giving a perfect draught, through, under and around the gridiron into the flues of the stove, keeping the coals alive and carrying off all smoke and gases arising from the food—it will also broil very nicely upon the top without the smoke entering the room. This is accomplished by closing the draught and can only be effected by a perfectly air tight stove

5 Its arrangement for the ventilation of the oven cannot be excelled. It is effected by holes in the front door of the stove, through which the fresh air passes in ... the front plate of the fire chamber (thus becoming heated before entering the oven) then through the ventilating damper into the oven from the stove, where it forces all gases arising from the food which will naturally rise to the top over the front oven plate behind the fire-back into the fire-chamber, where they are consumed (thus adding fuel for combustion,) and also to the perfect draught of the stove

The Good Samaritan has, in a single year proved itself to be the most economical as well as the most efficient stove in the world. The great advantage it possesses of doing ... a greater variety of cooking at once with greater rapidity of operation is not to be lightly passed over. None who have ever examined it ... can doubt for an instant but that, with ordinary usage it must last from 1 to 2 years. They can ... this belief in its great weight and the small quantity of fuel necessary to operate it—for the less fuel consumed the longer a stove will wear

6 That it possesses all the attributes and qualities of a first class stove in the height of perfection is no longer an experiment, but an established fact. That it has no equal we are fully prepared to demonstrate to all impartial persons, and solicit all whether wishing to purchase or not, to call and see the stove and be convinced of the truth of these statements

We desire every house-keeper in Penobscot County to call and we think they will be fully repaid by examining the merits of this wonder of the age

Descriptive pamphlets and all information will be cheerfully furnished by us at our store

THE ONLY PREPARATION

THAT HAS

Stood the Test of Years,

And grows more and more popular every day

AND testimonials new and almost without number might be given from ladies and gentlemen in all grades of society, whose united testimony none could resist, that Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative will restore the bald and gray and preserve the hair of the youth to old age in all its youthful beauty

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. Dec 21 1858.

Prof Wood—Thee wilt please accept a line to inform thee that the hair on my head all fell off over twenty years ago caused by a complicated chronic disease attended with an eruption on the head. A continual course of suffering through life having reduced me to a state of dependence, I have not been able to obtain stuff for caps, neither have I been able to do them up in consequence of which my head has suffered extremely from cold. This induced me to pay Briggs & Hodges almost the last cent I had on earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restorative about the first of August last. I have faithfully followed the directions and the bald spot is now covered with hair thick and black though short. It is also coming in all over my head. Feeling confident that another large bottle would restore it entirely and permanently I feel anxious to persevere in its use and being destitute of means to purchase any more I would ask thee if thee wouldst not be willing to send me an order on thine agents for a bottle and receive to thyself the scripture declaration—the reward is to those that are kind to the widow and the fatherless

Thy friend, SUSANNAH KIRBY

LIGONIER, Noble Co Indiana, Feb 5 1859

Prof O J Wood—Dear Sir: In the latter part of the year 1852, while attending the State and National Law School of the State of New York my hair from a cause unknown to me commenced falling off very rapidly so that in the short space of 6 months the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bereft of its covering, and much of the remaining portion upon the side and back part of my head shortly after became gray so that you will not be surprised when I tell you that upon my return to the State of Indiana my more casual acquaintances were not so much at a loss to discover the cause of the change in my appearance as my more intimate acquaintances were to recognize me at all

I at once made application to the most skillful physicians in the country but, receiving no assurance from them that my hair could again be restored, I was forced to become reconciled to my fate, until, fortunately in the latter part of the year 1857 your Restorative was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reliable Hair Restorative in use. I tried one bottle, and found to my great satisfaction that it was producing the desired effect. Since that time I have used seven dollars worth of your Restorative and as a result have a rich coat of very soft black hair which no money can buy

As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the production of so wonderful an article I have recommended its use to many of my friends and acquaintances, who, I am happy to inform you, are using it with like effect.

Very respectfully yours, A M LATTA, Attorney and Counsellor at Law

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz. large, medium and small. The small holds ½ a pint and retails for one dollar per bottle, the medium holds at least twenty per cent more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle, the large holds a quart, 40 per cent more in proportion, and retails for three dollars per bottle.

AN equal and normal circulation of the blood is health. An abnormal, that is to say, an excessive or deficient circulation or stagnation of the blood is disease. To illustrate—torpidity of the Liver is caused by stagnation of the blood in that organ, diseases of the Kidneys, Inflammation of the Lungs, Diseases of the heart, &c, by the same cause, viz. Improper Circulation; and from the same cause spring all other forms of disease. To discover a certain cure then for these diseases, the first great enquiry necessarily is, What causes the blood to circulate?

For centuries it has been a matter of much study among scientific and medical men, and while many experiments have been made and much labor expended upon the enquiry, it has been left to this century among its other wonderful increase in knowledge to make this grand discovery also.

Acknowledging that life is the gift of the Creator and that in Him we live and move and have our being, we still venture the remark that as the planets move in their spheres and all vegetable life is governed by certain absolute laws, so animal life is traceable to a fixed cause, which remove or destroy and death the certain effect, follows.

Analysis of the red corpuscles of the blood show them to be compounds of iron, sulphur and phosphorus

The air we breathe we know to contain a very large proportion of oxygen

Oxygen brought in contact with a metal evolves or emits electricity

Electricity brought in contact with a muscular fiber causes it to contract.

These facts being indisputable we have now the solution as to the motor or motive power of the heart. The oxygen in the air we breathe coming in contact with the iron corpuscles of the blood emits electricity which coming in contact with the heart causes it to contract, and hence the power which propels the blood and sends it tingling through the remotest arteries. What then are the causes of Consumption, Dropsy, Palsy, Paralysis, St. Vitus' Dance, Dyspepsia, Epilepsy, Fever and Ague, &c.? a deficiency of the red corpuscles containing the iron, sulphur and phosphorus which causes a deficiency of electricity and consequently an abnormal circulation. The blood becomes watery, colds and bronchial complaints and prostration ensue—the sufferer becomes nervous and subject to rheumatic pains and neuralgia—complaints of the liver and kidneys set in, in short, almost every type of disease but virulent fevers may be traced to the deficiency in the blood, of the corpuscles or red globules.

Old age causes a deficiency of corpuscles and while we do not pretend to say that we have discovered the "elixir vitæ" we do say that life can be materially prolonged by the use of the which restores the red globules, and thus the normal circulation. Consumptives! Friends of consumptives! Sufferers from any organic disease! Unfortunates, who have by excess of the body or mind reduced the standard of the blood and diminished the red globules. Ladies suffering any of the distresses known as female complaints, be persuaded the "Blood Food" can cure you. It has cured thousands of desperate cases where all hope has been given up. Do not reject it, do not throw away your only hope. The "Blood Food" is an unfailing remedy, give it a trial.

An elaborate treatise carrying out and fully proving the theory advanced here to be correct, will be mailed to any interested party, on the receipt of two 3 cent stamps. Blood Food is sold by all druggists, or where it cannot be had I will send 6 bottles, free of expense for $4. Price single bottle, $1. It is put up in 8 oz vials, in yellow wrappers—the old kind, in small bottles, in red wrappers having been done away with—and bears the fac-simile signature of Church & Dupont upon the face of the wrapper. Beware of counterfeits and imitations.

I hereby certify that my Hair having become gray and my head partially bald I bought from Henry Reynolds Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. Mr Dana's Misrepresentation of Senator Douglas

John W Dana the secession candidate for Governor, has written and published in the Portland Argus a "Letter of Acceptance," in which among other false and deliberate statements he makes the following attempts to convey to unin formed Democrats the idea that Senator Douglas was opposed to the war against rebellion. We repeat the assertion—John W Dana, the secession candidate for Governor, in his formal letter of acceptance attempts to make democrats believe that Stephen A Douglas was opposed to putting down armed rebels by force and hence, of course, that Douglas men ought to go for him (Dana) as the peace candidate. Ex-Governor Dana in that letter says

Senator Douglas, in his emphatic language warns us that "war is disunion, certain, inevitable, final, irrepressible," and tells us too "I cannot understand how a man can claim to be a friend of the Union and yet be in favor of war upon ten millions of people in the Union. You cannot cover it up much longer under the pretext of love for Union

Now this is dishonestly quoting language used by Senator Douglas before the rebellion was aimed at the heart of the Republic, and before the rebels proclaimed in entire and utter separation from the Union—and it is a base concealment of the fact that Mr Douglas's LAST WORDS were an injunction to prosecute the war against rebellion to the end. Let every man read the

Last Words of Douglas to the Democracy

The following letter addressed by Dr Duncan to Virgil Hickox, Chairman of the State democratic committee of Illinois, contains a complete vindication of his patriotic position, and will be cherished by his friends as one of his most noble and honorable efforts. Its logic completely demolishes the sophistries of those democrats who are attempting to get up a false peace movement, really in aid of the enemies of the Union, and points out clearly the duty of every good and loyal American citizen, to whatever party he may belong

This last letter of Mr Douglas, which may be considered his farewell address to his party and his country, is as follows

CHICAGO, May 10th.

My Dear Sir—Being deprived of the use of my arms for the present by a severe attack of rheumatism, I am compelled to avail myself of the services of an amanuensis, in reply to your two last letters.

It seems that some of my friends are unable to comprehend the difference between arguments used in favor of an equitable compromise, with the hope of averting the horrors of war, and those urged in support of the Government and the Flag of our Country, when war is being waged against the United States, with the avowed purpose of producing a permanent disruption of the Union, and a total destruction of its Government. All hope or compromise with the cotton States was abandoned when they assumed the position that the separation of the Union was complete and final, and that they would never consent to a reconstruction in any contingency—not even if we would furnish them with a blank sheet of paper, and permit them to inscribe their own terms. Still the hope was cherished that reasonable and satisfactory terms of adjustment could be agreed upon with Tennessee, North Carolina and the border States, and that whatever terms would prove satisfactory to those loyal States would create a Union party in the Cotton States which would be powerful enough at the ballot box to destroy the revolutionary government, and bring those States back into the Union by the voice of their own people. This hope was cherished by the Union men North and South, and was never abandoned, until actual war was levied at Charleston and the authoritative announcement made by the revolutionary government at Montgomery, that the secession flag should be planted upon the walls of the capital at Washington, and a proclamation issued inviting the pirates of the world to prey upon the commerce of the United States. These startling facts, in connection with the boastful announcement that ravages of war should be quickly transferred from the cotton fields of the South to the wheat fields and corn fields of the North, form an conclusive evidence that it was the fixed purpose of the secessionists utterly to destroy the Government of our Fathers and obliterate the United States from the map of the world.

In view of these facts, there was but one path of duty left to patriotic men. It was not a party question, nor a question involving partisan policy, it was a question of Government or country, and hence it became the imperative duty of every Union man, every friend of Constitutional Liberty, to rally to the support of our common country, its Government and its Flag as the only means of checking the progress of revolution and of preserving the union of the States. I am unable to answer your questions in respect to the policy of Mr Lincoln and his Cabinet

* * * * *

I know of no mode in which a loyal citizen may so well demonstrate his devotion to his country as by sustaining the Flag the Constitution and the Union under all circumstances, and under every administration regardless of party politics, against all assailants, at home and abroad

King Cotton Already Trembling.

When the great rebellion commenced, we expressed our opinion that it would be quite as likely to result in the loss of the cotton monopoly by the South, as in the establishment of a separate Confederacy—because it would alarm the fears of England as to the permanency of the supply by the South, and induce her to make strong efforts elsewhere. Three months only have passed and we already see that the throne of King Cotton is likely to be shaken, whichever way the present contest terminates. The London Times of the 17th says

The Confederate States of America are fully aware of the magnitude of the stake, but they believe themselves sure of the game. They hold that we must have cotton somehow, which is true enough; but they proceed to argue that we can only obtain it from them, and that they are consequently masters of the situation. We think it however by no means certain that their confidence will be justified. They supplied us with admirable panic enough no doubt, but the disturbance in the Union have alarmed us we have advertised our wants, and already a score of candidates neither ineligible nor unenterprising are competing for a custom rising £40,000,000 a year. If this trade should actually find fresh channels, there is no man living who can calculate the national vicissitudes which may ensue

* * * * *

The great question is naturally regarded with very different eyes by the two sections of the late American Union. The South, as we have said, may see its position unassailable, and is disposed to hope that in our craving for cotton, and our inability to procure it elsewhere, we shall be compelled to break the blockade. The Northerners reckon otherwise. They argue that, what with stocks on hand and supplies on their way to us, we are safe till next spring by which time the results of the movement in India will probably be visible in the form of large importations. We certainly look forward to that period with considerable interest. It will bring a pretty good test of the question what India can really do for us. It will show how far the cultivation of cotton can be pushed on a single season at short notice, and what improvement can be given to means of communication under similar conditions

The interests at stake are enormous, but the question will in many be decided by the operation of human laws. There will not be much room for national prejudice on either side. Whatever country sends the best cotton at the cheapest rate, and with the greatest regularity will command the market. It would be fortunate in many ways if the prize should fall to India, but commerce looks to its own needs only. We doubt if any country could have driven America from the field, if America had remained exempt from troubles, but the contingency which has now happened has been so long and so unreasonably anticipated, that the actual event tells strongly against the chances of America and in favor of a fresh competition. If the civil war should last another year, the cotton trade will probably be revolutionized, and with it the fortunes and destinies of States

Bold Toryism!

The Danaites at Augusta, declared by their action in voting down Mr Johnson's resolve, that they ARE OPPOSED TO THE WAR EVEN IF IT IS NECESSARY TO SUPPRESS REBELLION AND MAINTAIN THE CONSTITUTION AND LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES. Here is the resolve which Mr Johnson offered and the Dana-ites voted down

Resolved, That we are opposed to the present war, except so far as it is necessary to suppress rebellion and maintain the Constitution and Laws of the United States.

That is a record which would make an old Hartford Convention federalist blush scarlet! You can't make the loyal democracy of Maine endorse such Toryism by voting for John W Dana.—Rockland Democrat

COMPROMISE. Let the Copperheads, if they mean what they say, and if they dare to do what they say, tell the people of the North what terms of reconciliation they would offer to rebels in arms.—Portland Adv

A VOTE FOR JOHN W DANA is a vote to acknowledge Cotton as King, and the freemen of the North as his slaves.

MAKE PEACE, my the Dana men. On what terms? we ask. The rebels claim the acknowledgement of Southern Independence. Are they willing to grant this, and thus dissolve the Union permanently by actual treaty

TO TREAT WITH REBELS, is to put a premium on treason; it is to teach them that they can pressure by arms what they cannot obtain by votes.

Peace Impossible except through Victory.

Under the pressure of the various hardships which war brings, it is not unnatural to wish the war were over, and to speculate as to the methods in which it may be brought to a close. Moreover, there are never wanting parties ready to appeal to the longings for peace with plausible sophistries and hollow promises. But in the present crisis, it is the wisest course to look facts fairly in the face, and to accept the necessities of the hour. Doing this, it is plain that only by putting down the rebellion, and annihilating everything the rebellion represents, in principle or in policy, can safety be obtained for the present or the future.

It is best to see and admit this fully and frankly, for not a little is done toward the accomplishment of a task, when its nature and its demands are clearly comprehended. We must know precisely what we are called upon to do, in order to do it understandingly and thoroughly. In order, therefore, to have a sustained singleness of purpose, gathering up and using all the forces necessary to settle the present conflict, the one only way of settling it must not be put out of sight for a moment. It is deceiving the people to do so, it is crying peace when there is and can be no such peace as the cry implies. And why not?

In the first place, because it is not in the power of the loyal portion of the people to obtain peace on any conditions, except such as would make it, sooner or later, infinitely more disastrous than war. The conspiracy to destroy the Government, or divide the Union, which has been for years plotting in secret and buding its time, has now revealed its spirit, so that no one can mistake its character, or fail to see what would ensue if it should be allowed to obtain ascendency. From the beginning, the leaders of the insurrection refused to propose or to listen to any terms of conciliation. They waited for no overt acts on the part of the Government they assuredly pretended to fear aggressive treatment, and shut their ears to every assurance that no constitutional right of theirs should be touched or trifled with. With them, secession and a separate, independent confederacy was a foregone conclusion.

To carry out their determination they took the initiative. They inflamed the passions of their followers by a studied system of falsification. By stealth and open violence, they robbed, as far as they could, the nation of its defences and treasures, and insulted its flag. They began and have pursued their career in the most despotic tyrannical and insolent manner, throwing to the winds every principle of a free government, usurping authority with unblushing audacity and exercising it with a supreme contempt for all considerations of justice or common honesty. There is no element of wickedness that ever entered into the schemes of the worst conspirators, that has not appeared in the words and deeds of the arch traitors now in arms to dismember this Republic. Their resolution is to rule or ruin.

What evident fatuity then to talk of compromising with such a rebellion as we are contending against, or of acknowledging the Confederacy it would establish. Either in or out of the Union the principles of this rebellion would be a perpetual curse, provoking constant hostilities, between despotism and freedom barbarism and civilization. The nation would not have an hour's content with Jeff. Davis in it, or Jeff. Davis at the head of a bordering Confederacy. The rattlesnake would still be alive and poisonous though his warning rattle might not, as now be heard. Everything at an to peace and good government would still be here to plague the land.

It is useless to argue this point, since it is so perfectly plain that any compromise or any peace necessarily into ves the acceptance, as the prolific, restless cause of future troubles, all the political and social iniquities which character ze the doctrine of secession, as made manifest in the most unjustifiable of insurrections.

There is then but one method of putting an end to the existing conflict, and that is by putting down the rebellion. If the loyal people of this country do not mean to be conquered and subjugated and have everything of their freedom and free institutions except the name, destroyed, they must address themselves to the terrible work and school themselves to bear the evils of war until their cause is victorious. They must themselves understand and make the Government understand that it is the duty and the only paramount duty of the hour. The rebellion will allow them no peace, but such a peace as would inaugurate on this continent the supremacy of principles hostile to everything essential to the prosperity of the nation and the interests of humanity.

The only thing to be done—nay, the only thing that now can be done, is for the people to see to it that the great battle for freedom is sternly and speedily fought out, to the annihilation of the foul and by reason of its audacity and falsehood, formidable conspiracy that seeks to destroy the best government the world has ever known, and disturb by its vile machinations the tranquility and prosperity of the fairest country on the globe.—Boston Transcript

The Assistant Treasurer and all the clerks in his department were kept busy yesterday, attending to the applicants for subscription to the national loan. As early as nine o'clock one patriotic lady was in waiting at the office, with $ 500 in gold, carefully tied up. She had hurried down from Connecticut, and was in fidgets lest she might be too late. Her anxiety in that respect was set at rest, the forms were duly filled up the certificate of deposit handed her, and she went off rejoicing. One by one industrious mechanics or their wives came in with their fifty, hundred or two hundred dollars, as the case might be, and invested it in the government loan.

As an illustration of the general feeling among that worthy class of our population, it has been stated by a President of one of our savings banks, that when he went home the other evening he found no less than six servant girls waiting to see him for the purpose of drawing their deposits next day, that they might invest them in treasury notes. They said that such was the advice of their priests, and a very sensible advice it was.

The number of applicants yesterday at Mr Cisco's office was one hundred and thirty five—most of them women—and the aggregate amount of subscription received was $270,000. The individual subscriptions yesterday were for larger sums than the average of previous days, still there were large number of fifty and one hundred dollar subscriptions. One roughlooking specimen came in, stepped up to the counter, and untying a soiled handkerchief, laid down the contents with a most consequential air, saying he had come to lend the Government five hundred dollars. Of course the proper degree of gratitude was expressed, the money taken, and the necessary certificate issued.

The Philadelphia correspondent of the Tribune says—

Among the masses, there is great inquiry for the new Government securities, and when they can be readily had, they will be absorbed in large amounts. The quantity of idle money here is very great, not only of our own, but from abroad, awaiting for this kind of investment.—It seems evident that the entire loan will soon be at a premium.

A young gentleman who has just married a little beauty, says "she would have been taller, but she is made of such precious material that Nature couldn't afford it."

A SUCCESSFUL TRIP. Schooner Ocean Belle, Capt Melntire, arrived at Portland on the 28th, after an absence of only one week to Seal Island Banks, with a freight of 13,000 lbs. of halibut, caught by her crew of four men. This is said to be the most successful trip of the season. The Ocean Belle is only 28 tons burthen.

☞ A flag-staff and flag were raised in East Livermore on Saturday, the 24th. A company of infantry and one of cavalry paraded on the occasion. The Turner Brass Band furnished music. Mr W W Morrill, a recent graduate of Bowdoin College addressed the assemblage, and Mrs Anderson of Fayette, sung the "Star Spangled Banner," with thrilling effect.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN BRUNSWICK. Edward D Welch, aged 10 years son of Wm D Welch, while at play on Tuesday, fell from the high bluff, in front of the house of Miss Narcissa Stone, a distance of 20 feet, upon the rocks. The accident occurred at about 3½ P M, and the little fellow was so much injured that he died at 10½ at night.

☞ THE PENOBSCOT BAPTIST ASSOCIATION will commence its annual session at East Corinth tomorrow.

A SCHOOL TAX. Mr Editor,—Besides the war tax which traitors are harping about, to stir up men against the war, a senseless story has been started in town that there is to be a school tax of eighteen cents a week on all scholars in our public schools. It is no doubt started for effect among our adopted fellow citizens, to poison their minds, and get them in a complaining mood. It is but fly necessary to say that no such tax has been made or will be. Shame on the set of men in our midst who resort to such a dastardly course.

ONE OF THE S S COMMITTEE.

FURNISHING OF MAINE TROOPS. We learn that notwithstanding some unavoidable difficulties arising from the rapid organization and equipment of our regiments the War Department must regards the outfitting and furnishing of the Maine troops as quite equal to that of any other state troops. There have been deficiencies, of course, which could not be remedied in a moment, but there has also been a great amount of unnecessary and fitting both in time and many other respects.

CAVALRY ENLISTMENTS. Gov Washburn has been authorized to raise a regiment of cavalry for the U S service and enlistments will soon be made. The Government furnishes the best of horses, arms and equipments, and pays a bounty of $100 at the time of discharge. There are many who would prefer the cavalry to infantry service, and this will furnish them a good opportunity.

☞ We learn the Lieut. Colonel Thomas H Marshall of the Fourth Regiment, has been tendered the Colonelcy of the Seventh Regiment, in place of Capt Mason declined.

☞ A call for a democratic meeting in Portland to sustain the nomination of Col Jameson, is signed by 400 democrats.

THE LOST CHILD AT BUCKSPORT—THREE DAYS AND THREE NIGHTS EXPOSURE. The following particulars of this interesting case, are from one of the searching party. On Tuesday noon last, Mrs Heath, who lives on Wescott or Orphan Island, put her three children to bed while she went to a neighbor's at some distance. In about an hour the alarm was given by one of them that the little girl, only two years and ten months old, had left the house and could not be found. The little creature was but very scantily clad, and had no protection for her head and it is supposed she left the house in pursuit of her mother, and turned off from the road. The neighbors were alarmed, and search was made without effect. On Wednesday the citizens of Buckspore were called together by the ringing of the bells, and a large force organized, numbering nearly three hundred, who moving but a few feet apart, swept the island for a distance of over four miles. The search was futile. On Thursday the excitement in regard to the case, ran high. It was said a boat was known to have come up from Castine, and it was intimated that the child was stolen. A despatch was sent to Castine, and the story about the boat was found incorrect. The people then entered upon the search in even greater numbers, and it was continued through the day and by many through the night, as it was also on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

On Thursday the child was given up as dead, supposed to have been drowned. The citizens, however, whose sympathies had been fully enlisted, determined not to give it up, and continued the search. In the afternoon some of the party discovered in a low piece of marshy ground three miles from the house from which the child had strayed, indications of the child having lain there, and the tracks of its feet were discovered in the vicinity, which were followed as well as could be distinguished, when one of the party, Mr Atwood, climbed a tree from which he commanded quite a view when he discovered the child among some tall brakes picking bunchberries. He called gently to her, when she hid herself under the brakes. He descended as soon as he could and hurried towards her, but she seemed very timid. He gave her some figs which he had provided himself with and in a short time she became on good terms, and he took her up and carried her along. She was well and smart but considerably sun burnt on her exposed shoulders.

Thus having been exposed for three days and nights to the elements, and through the heavy rain storm of Thursday evening, eating berries, making her bed in the soft grass of marshy ground, she was restored to her mother to the great rejoicing of all and the reward of unremitting search, which it is surprising she should have escaped. When the child was handed to her mother, she put her little arms about her mother's neck and said "Mother, let us go home." She did not complain of hunger, or of having suffered anything, said she ate berries, and being asked what she did for water, she said she found some and played with it with her hands. Take it all in all, it was a remarkable case.

THE QUESTION SETTLED. Judge Wayne, of the U S Supreme Court, has decided in a made case, that government has a right to exact service from troops for the full term of their enlistment by the State. This judicially settles the question raised by the two year regiments from the State of New York, and this State.

"MAKE UP YOUR MIND TO IT." The Philadelphia Presbyterian, under the heading of "Make up Your Mind to It," thus expresses its views on "peace propositions."

A gentleman not very distinguished for ardent patriotism, declaiming against the war as having in a large measure arrested the wheels of business, and interfered with his usual prosperity, a friend properly rebuked him in terms like these

"This war has been forced on us. It must necessarily produce distress. As a citizen you may as well make up your mind to bear a portion of the burden. You have been accustomed to look exclusively after your personal interests, now you must enlarge your views, and act the public cause. The very existence of the government, under the shadow of which you have prospered, is in peril; if it falls you fall, if it prospers you prosper. If, to escape temporary sacrifice, you would patch up a false, factitious, and dishonorable peace, you are unworthy of the name of an American and a freeman."

The answer was a just one.

Articles of recapitulation between Flag officers Stringham commanding the Atlantic Blockading Squadron, and Benj F Butler, U S A., commanding in behalf of the United States Government, and Samuel Barron commanding the naval force for the defence of North Carolina and Virginia, and Col Martin commanding the forces and Major Andrews commanding the same forces at Fort Hatteras it is stipulated and agreed between the contracting parties, that the forces under the command of said Barron, Martin and Andrews be unconditionally surrendered to the Government of the United States in terms of full capitulation and it is stipulated and agreed by the contracting parties on the part of the U S Government, that the officers and men shall receive the treatment due to prisoners of war

In witness whereof, we, Stringham and Butler, in behalf of the United States, and Barron Martin and Andrews, representing the forces at Hatteras Inlet, hereby interchangably set our hands, this twenty ninth day of August, A D 1861 and of the independence of the United States the eighty fifth

U S CHARTERED STEAMER ADELAIDE }
August 31, 1861 }

SIR I have to report that the expedition to Cape Hatteras Inlet has resulted in a signal victory over the rebels the capture of two forts 25 cannon, 1000 stand of arms, 715 prisoners, among whom are Capt Samuel Baron, Lieut Sharp Dr Wyatt and M Brown, all late of the United States Navy, and Maj Andrews and other officers, late of the United States Army The amount of loss on their side is not exactly known, five are ascertained to have been buried, and eleven wounded are on board the vessel, and many were carried away Lieut Murdrugh, late of the United States Navy, is among the number, with the loss of an arm We met with no casualty of any consequence whatever The surrender was unconditional For all particulars, I beg to refer to the report of Flag Officer Silas H Stringham and Major General Benj F Butler

Although the Adelaide and George Peabody were chartered for other and special service, yet to further important operations I consented to to take the troops on board from Newport News and Fortress Monroe—900 men, with arms munitions of war, and landed part of them—about 300—amidst a heavy surf, until the boats filled and became unmanagable. The men of war hauled in and commenced a heavy cannonade at 10 15 A M, on the 28th, and kept it up at intervals all day, and recommencing on the 29th at 8 15 A M, with increased effect The enemy attempted to land 1000 or 1500 men but were driven back At 11 30 they displayed a flag of truce, and were forced to surrender at discretion On the appearance of the white flag I steamed into the inlet, and laid behind the fort, ready to throw the remaining troops ashore better, in case of a commencement or a cessation of hostilities. The George Peabody, Lieutenant Lowry, did the same at the surrender We officiated at the ceremonies, after which the prisoners were brought to this vessel, and next day, the 30th inst., placed on board the steamer Minnesota, which vessel sailed at 2 30 P M for New York, and we left for Annapolis with Maj. Gen. Butler, U S A., and the wounded prisoners I hope my endeavors in the case may meet your full approbation And I beg to recommend to your consideration the conduct of Lieutenant commanding R. B Lowrey, associated with me on this work, and placed in charge of the George Peabody, and of Mr King, U S N , who volunteered for the expedition I have received from corps of pilots valuable assistance

I am very respectfully your obedient servant,
H S STELLMAYER.

U S CHARTERED STEAMER ADELAIDE, }
August 31, 1861 }

To Hon Gideon Welles, Secretary of Navy

SIR—In obedience to your order, I have the honor herewith to furnish you a complete list of the wounded and prisoners taken at the surren of Fort Hatteras The whole number is 13, and 11 of these were transferred to this steamer by the order of Flag Officer S H Stringham The remaining men were found to be too seriously injured to permit of their being moved, and they were consequently left in the fort in charge of a medical officer

From the information which I have received from a credible source, I have formed the opinion that many of the wounded, and perhaps all the killed, were sent on board the rebel steamer in the sound prior to the capitulation Only 20 of the killed were found, and these were discovered in the buttresses of Fort Clark on the day of the evacuation of that work I understand from Surveyor Wyatt a Mr Brown, formerly of the U S Navy, and at present holding a commission in the army of the Confederate State and in charge of the medical departments of Forts Hatteras and Clark, that ex Lieut Murdough of the U S army was very badly injured, a fragment of shell striking his fore arm and making a compound fracture of both bones This gentleman escaped from Fort Hatteras prior to the surrender in the privateer Winslow

I am, very respectfully, your obedient serv t
W MAKING, Assistant Surgeon

To Commander H S Stellmayer, U S Navy, commanding the Steamer Adelaide, in special service

NEW YORK, 1st

The Tribune s Special Washington despatch gives the following particulars of the Hatteras expedition—

On Wednesday the Minnesota, Wabash Cumberland, Susquehannah, Pawnee Harriet Lane and Monticello, and transport steamers Adelaide and Peabody with numerous tugs, arrived off Hatteras Inlet. The fleet was in command of Commodore Stringham, and the land forces under Gen Butler

Two forts had been erected by the rebels to guard the mouth of Hatteras Inlet, which commands the entrance to Pamlico and Albemarle Sounds, which afford communication to Virginia and the sea.

The bombardment was commenced at 11 o clock in the morning, by the Minnesota the whole fleet soon joining

The landing of troops was immediately commenced, but owing to the surf only 300 were enabled to land

The forts replied to the incessant cannonade, without much damage, and after three hours the flag on Fort Clark was hauled down and the rebels retreated to Fort Hatteras, a large work below Our troops soon occupied the abandoned fort, and hoisted the Stars and Stripes

At night the fleet anchored—several gunboats remaining as near as possible, to protect the land forces

At eight o clock on Thursday morning the fleet again opened fire on Fort Hatteras, the shots from the latter falling far short

At 11 o clock our shots beginning to play on the magazine, the rebels hoisted a white flag, and our troops started at double quick from Fort Clark They were met on the beach by a flag of truce Capt Nixon of the Coast Guard went to the fort when Commander Barron late of the Federal Navy who was in command, proposed a capitulation, by allowing the garrison to stack arms and allow the officers to retain their side arms Gen Butler refused to accede to such terms, and demanded an unconditional surrender, which was subsequently acceded to

Commander Barron delivered his word to commodore Stringham and the other officers delivered theirs to Gen Butler

One thousand stand of arms 32 cannon 500 knapsacks, a large quantity of munitions and 700 prisoners, were captured

Not one on our side was hurt

Four hundred men had reinforced the forts the night previous to the attack On Thursday forenoon a steamer with 1000 rebels approached, but was kept away by our troops in Fort Clark

After the capture our troops were all landed, and Gen Butler had the Stars and Stripes hoisted amid the wildest cheering, the band playing Yankee Doodle.

The wounded and prisoners were put on board the Minnesota, which will take them to New York

SOLUTIC[illegible] OF PROTOXIDE OF IRON COMBINED.

This well known Remedy has been used extensively and with great success for

DYSPEPSIA,

Or Impaired and Imperfect Digestion;

FOR THE CONSEQUENT

DETERIORATION OF THE BLOOD;

AND FOR THE FOLLOWING

FORMS OF DISEASE,

Most of which originate in

DYSPEPSIA:

LIVER COMPLAINT, DROPSY, NEURALGIA and NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, LOSS OF APPETITE, HEADACHE, LANGUOR and DEPRESSION of SPIRITS, CARBUNCLES and BOILS, PILES, SCURVY, AFFECTIONS OF THE SKIN, CONSUMPTIVE TENDENCIES, BRONCHITIS, DISEASES PECULIAR TO FEMALES, & ALL COMPLAINTS ACCOMPANIED BY GENERAL DEBILITY, AND REQUIRING

A TONIC AND ALTERATIVE MEDICINE.

Note.—The failure of IRON as a remedy for Dyspepsia, and bad state of the blood, and the numerous diseases caused thereby, has arisen from the want of such a preparation of Iron as shall enter the stomach in a PROTOXIDE state, and assimilate at once with the blood. This want the PERUVIAN SYRUP supplies, and it does so in the only form in which it is possible for Iron to enter the circulation. For a description of the PERUVIAN SYRUP effects in curing diseases in which other preparations of Iron and other medicines have been found to be of no avail,

Certificate of A. A. HAYES, M. D., of Boston.

Dr. VAN STROBER, well known as an Independent Physician of Boston, has for many years devoted his attention to the treatment of Dyspepsia and other diseases originating in a disordered state of the blood, and with great success. I have frequently prescribed his PERUVIAN SYRUP in my practice, and have found it a valuable remedy in the class of diseases for which it is recommended. I am satisfied that it contains the properties claimed for it, and can recommend it to the public as a safe and reliable preparation.

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced Stages of the Disease.

This is a remedy in which the public may confide. For years it has been tested, and has never failed to effect cures which seem almost miraculous, and to which there is no parallel in the history of medicine. Its unparalleled success has made it known wherever civilization extends, and wherever it is known it is regarded as the best remedy that can be used for pulmonary complaints. Nor is it only in this country that it is valued. Foreigners, as well as our own countrymen, have found in it a never-failing protection against the most dangerous forms of lung disease, and carry it with them as a necessary article to their health. Many of the most eminent physicians in Europe have given certificates of its virtues, which are published in our pamphlets, and which are to be had of our agents. Nothing but the best ingredients, and the most careful manipulation, are employed in its preparation, and it is offered to the public as the best remedy that can be made.
